

Defense needs of Michigan continue to get top billing. The state legislature, convening again at Lansing, received a request from Governor G. Mennen Williams for $2,000,000 civilian preparedness program. The cost of a "living bomb attack," was estimated at $1,000,000. Minimum A-bomb attack on Detroit would be 50,000 killed or injured, 100,000 homeless, according to Brig. Gen. E. Dougherty, civil defense director.

Michigan's National Guard is not ready. This fighting force which saw some of the roughest duty in the New Guinea campaign against Japan would need five months of intensive training to be ready for combat, according to Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, Guard commander.

With 18,000 officers and enlisted men normally assigned to an infantry division, some 7,500 guardsmen fell out for summer training at Camp Grayling.

And at the same time, Dwight Eisenhower, still says, "You can't win anywhere if you can't win this one."

If President Truman signs the Selective Training and Service Act, Michigan will be richer by some $100,000 next year and $200,000 each year thereafter, the bill, already passed by Congress, will earmark a percentage of the federal income tax for the state.

The state social welfare commission has dumped Governor G. Mennen Williams' proposal to cut food budget allowances for public assistance cases until Congress decides on price controls.

Michigan cities are losing their policemen to the army. In rapid succession most areas of the state are asked for blanket draft deferments for their single patrolmen under 26.

Just how bad can a bar get? The answer, according to the state liquor commission, is this: Any licensee convicted of three serious offenses within two years will lose his license. The question arose in connection with a Detroit establishment which was closed for 30 days and assessed $500.

The tavern has been charged at various times with selling liquor to minors, having an intoxicated bartender, serving intoxicated patrons, allowing intoxicated persons to loiter, having an unlicensed bartender, and operating under unsanitary conditions. "We can't help," Commissioner Harry Hender, said, "if previous commissioners were lenient. . . . But the next time . . ."

Where did the money go? A taxpayer board and interior department asked that when he warned that the stockpile of strategic materials "is not sufficient." Data concerning the $2,000,000 stockpile is confidential, even in peacetime. The same hearing mentioned Michigan and its run-down copper mines. S. H. Williston, leading mine expert, says Michigan is not alone in this. Almost every strategic metal mine within the U. S. is closed, abandoned or filled with water," he said.

Michigan automobile manufacturers are concerned over our inadequate roads. Since the nation's car population has jumped rapidly (12,000,000 more vehicles since World War II) it is feared that the highways will be unable to handle the traffic. More money for more and better highways, according to Albert Bradley, executive chairman of the national highway users conference, "Less was spent for highways in 1949 on a comparable dollar basis than in the average prewar year," he asserted.

What happens to the home and if the National Guard is called? A paper army will move in if current plans materialize. Called the Michigan State Troops, this army will be composed of World War II veterans who will be available on paper but called out for duty and instruction only if the Michigan Guard is called. The organization will prefer combat in uniform.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pettengill and children, Dale and Priscilla, drove to Mackinac Thursday to get their daughter, Kay Ellen, who had spent two weeks in Ohio and a few days in East Lansing. Miss Kay Ellen Pettengill of St. John was a guest at the Pettengill home last week.

State's Guard Completes Rugged Combat Exercise

To Head Towards Home Saturday

Camp Grayling—Troops of the 48th "Iron Fist" Division and other ground units of the Michigan National Guard will head homeward Saturday after completing a rugged two-week field training program here.

Some 7,500 Guardsmen took part in the encampment, marked by a grim resolve to prepare for whatever mission a troubled international situation may bring.

Highlight of this week's training was a 48-hour combat exercise which took the guardsmen away from the garrison area of Camp Grayling into the forested tactical maneuver areas of the state military reservation.

Men of the 48th Division had the task of defending a line slightly north of Higgins Lake against a patrol and infiltration attack of a green-uniformed "aggressor" force advancing from the south.

The invaders, made up of selected units of the division and assisted by regular army teams from Fifth Army headquarters, sought to work their way through defensive positions, and employed several types of psychological warfare to add realism to the combat exercise.

Blank ammunition was used in the field problem, and a strict blackout prevailed during the night.

Units of the Indiana Air Guard supported the aggressor force, while tactical aviation units from the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station were teamed with the defenders.

After a week-end inspection of training activities and other conferences with Major General Ralph A. Loveland, Commanding General, and other Guard officers, Gov. Williams issued a special commendation praising the Guardsmen for "your high morale and your evident desire to excel in the performance of your duties."

Pointing out that several Michigan Guard units have been called into Federal service since the outbreak of the Korean fighting, the governor told the troops, "it is possible many of you may be called upon in the weeks and months ahead to perform the same service."

Guardsmen will draw their summer training pay Thursday and Friday, and break camp Friday afternoon for the trip to their home armories.

Last Saturday afternoon before their commanding officers and a crowd of more than 5,000 civilian spectators the Michigan National Guardsmen marched solemnly in review before the governor.

"With artillery observation planes flying overhead, and against the grim backdrop of the Korean conflict, the 48th Infantry Division, made up of 7,500 officers and men, passed in review before Gov. G. Mennen Williams here.

Seemingly as if in tune with a time of crisis, the skies were overcast and the weather had the chill of a winter day.

The 48th displayed some of its heavy armor in an hour-long review. For the first time it put the formidable self-propelled 155 MM "Long Toms" on parade.

Equipment that rolled by the reviewing stand included six "Long Toms," 13 medium tanks and a half dozen half tracks.

On Saturday evening, Governor Williams attended a reception at the Officers Club at Camp Grayling for him and furnished the highlight of the evening by calling a Virginia Reel for the dancers.

On Sunday morning, he spoke at the traditional memorial services held on Division Hill at the Camp for National Guard heroes of the past.

Goodall-Ritenburgh Wed In Church Rites

In a double ring ceremony spoken at by Michigan Memorial Church on Sunday, August 13, Miss Hene Joyce Goodall of Fletcher, became the bride of Vernon Ritenburgh of Flint. Rev. R. C. Puffer officiated at 1:00 P. M. in the presence of the parents and a few friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodall and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ritenburgh, all of Fletcher.

Miss Goodall, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a sweet leaved daisy of pink-violet over satin for her wedding. Her corsage was made of white roses and centered with a white orchid.

Miss Donna Sullivan of Mooresville, who was maid of honor, wore a white street length dress and a pink rosebud corsage. Vincent Battin of Flint was best man.

A reception for eighty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The lovely four-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom. After the newlyweds had cut the cake the refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Anthony and Mrs. Thomas Wakeley.

The bride is a 1950 graduate of Grayling High School. Mr. Ritenburgh graduated from Grand Blanc High School in 1947. A carpenter, he is employed by the Howell Construction Company.

Following a honeymoon in Ontario, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Ritenburgh are making their home in Flint.

Playoff Game Ends In Protest

The playoff game between Mio and the Grayling Independents last Sunday here for second place in the North Central Michigan Baseball League and for the right to meet Houghton Lake next Sunday for the League playoff championship ended with Mio winning 17 to 16, but under the shadow of a Grayling protest entered in the seventh inning.

In the seventh, Grayling had the bases loaded with Ellery Horning on third, Bernie Sadjak on second and Ross Thompson on first when pitcher Bob Gildner hit a ground ball to the third baseman. As no one was out, the Mio third sacker played it right in throwing to home to force Horning and stop a Grayling score. The Mio catcher in turn threw towards the first base spot hoping to double Gildner, but the ball struck Gildner and bounced into right field with Sadjak and Thompson scoring for Grayling.

At this point, Mio put up a real holler and a "rhubarb" of twenty minutes took place with the ball finally being ruled "dead" upon hitting Gildner and the two runs scored from Grayling's scoring column. The local team manager, Clyde Anthony, immediately protested the ruling and allowed the game to be finished only on the basis of Grayling's protest receiving a hearing before league officials. The two runs which were taken from Grayling would have made them the victors, 18 to 17.

Grayling used Gildner on the mound until the seventh inning when he was replaced by Sadjak. Thompson was behind the plate. Mio used Kock, Cook and Duseau on the mound with McGregor behind the plate. Grayling scored their 16 runs on 18 hits and two Mio errors. Mio collected 12 hits but 7 Grayling misplays helped their cause.

The local team pushed over 7 big runs in the fourth inning and added 1 in the fifth, 2 in the sixth and 4 in the final inning. Mio scored 3 in the first, 2 in the third, 1 in the fourth, 2 in the fifth, 3 in the sixth and 6 in the first half of the ninth. At this time, the outcome of the protest to the League officers is still not known and what will happen in the League playoff schedule is anybody's guess.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Perry expect to leave for Crosswell Sunday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Bar for a week, after spending two weeks here with his parents, the Vern Perrys. Mrs. Perry was Miss Helen Bar before her marriage to Mr. Perry in Crosswell on June 18. Mrs. Perry will teach in Kego Harbor his year a, d l Perry in Waterl Town st. p

To Hold Orthopedic Clinic For County Kids

An orthopedic clinic to be sponsored by the Michigan Crippled Children Commission as part of its state-wide program of aid to physically handicapped children will be held at Mercy Hospital, Cadillac on September 7, 1950, beginning at 8:30 a. m. This clinic is for the counties of Crawford, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Roscommon and Wexford, and the District Health Department, county medical societies, Michigan Society for Crippled Children, and Rotary clubs are actively co-operating in this effort.

Dr. Andre, orthopedic surgeon of Grand Rapids will be the attending consultant. It is expected that approximately 70 crippled children will attend this clinic for consultation and advice. It is limited to crippled children who have been notified, crippled children who have recently moved into the counties, and new cases. Any case not notified and wishing to attend, should contact a member of the district health department staff. It will include children from birth to 21 years of age. No charge will be made for the examination at the clinic and if X-rays are ordered by the examining surgeon, they will be taken without charge to the patient.

A representative of the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation of the state of Michigan will be invited to the clinic and will consult with children 16 years of age and over in regard to vocational training within the capacity of their physical handicap. Orthopedic nurses and physical therapist of the Michigan Crippled Children Commission will assist in conducting the clinic, together with local health department nurses. A field representative from the Michigan Society for Crippled Children will also be present. There will also be numerous volunteer workers from the area assisting with the clinic.

Pictured above from left to right are the Rev. Fr. John Breitenstein of St. Mary's Church, Grayling, Mrs. Amelia Gillette of Ellsworth, Mrs. Morris Burrick (seated), Mr. Burrick standing behind his wife, Francis Gallagher of Roscommon, grand knight of the Roscommon Grayling council of the Knights of Columbus and Mrs. Lawrence Hunter of Grayling, president of the St. Mary's Altar Society. These people were principals at the dedication service last week of the shrine, "Little Cathedral in the Pines" located north of Grayling on US-27.

It is estimated that there were almost two hundred people present last Tuesday evening, August 15th, to witness the blessing and dedication of "The Little Cathedral in the Pines." The shrine located on highway US-27, four miles north of Grayling, was built by Mr. Morris Burrick, upon whose property it stands. Erected in thanksgiving for a favor received, the shrine marks the fulfillment of a promise.

The statue occupying the grotto and the grotto itself were blessed by Father John Breitenstein. "The Little Cathedral in the Pines" is dedicated to Mary, the Mother of God, in whose honor it was built. Assisting Father Breitenstein in the ceremony, St. Mary's Choir sang two hymns in honor of Mary. Reverend Father Vincent Grannon of Indianapolis, Indiana, and Chaplain of the Indian Air Guard, led the recitation of the Rosary. Father Breitenstein gave a sermon explaining the occasion.

Present for the dedication ceremony was Mrs. Amelia Gillette of Ellsworth, Michigan. It was Mrs. Gillette, 85 years old, who, a year ago, regained her sight after submitting to an operation for the removal of cataracts in both eyes. Mr. Burrick had promised to build the shrine if the operation were a success. It is interesting to note that Mr. Burrick suffers constantly from asthma. His wife is a semi-invalid. The shrine is a tribute to their patience and perseverance.

A votive candle in a ruby glass will be kept burning day and night beside the statue. The burnishing and tending of the light will be the work of the Knights of Columbus who have volunteered to undertake the project.

Little Tommy Korenke got his fingers injured quite badly last week when he got them caught in an electric machine at the Pine Grill Restaurant.

The ladies who sponsored the Chop-Suey dinner wish to thank all the ladies who so willingly helped to put the dinner on and helped aid in the Chapel fund.

A number of ladies of the Cheerful Givers Club met at Sunset Banks with their president, Mrs. C. Stillwagon last Thursday evening. They had election of officers for the coming year and finished making their plans for the Chop Suey dinner. An appreciation letter was read by the secretary from the chairman of the board of trustees of the Chapel thanking the ladies of the club for the interest they have shown and the help they have made possible toward our lovely little Chapel here.

After election of officers they all enjoyed the usual treat together in the dining room. Besides other food things to eat, Mr. Stillwagon furnished sweet corn as an annual treat from his garden. Officers elected for the coming year were: Mrs. Ruth Caid, president; Mrs. Edith Hartman, vice president; Mrs. Marie Doby, secretary; Mrs. Beverly Spaulding, treasurer.

We all regret so very much in having to lose our pastor this fall as the Free Methodist Conference has found it necessary for him to accept a pastorate from their churches, so he has been changed and will go to Alpena after Labor Day. This last Sunday Rev. Links delivered the message which was enjoyed by a fine congregation.

We are yet uncertain who our new pastor may be. But church services this Sunday will be the same as before, Sunday School 11 A. M., preaching services 7:30 P. M.

Guide To Fishing

By JACK SCHWEIGERT
Roving Reporter

This last week fishing has been very spotty. If you feel you always go when they do not bite, forget it. I chased down reports of good fishing this last week and found the reports misleading, at least while I was there the fishermen I found fishing had no luck and knew of no one that had any around the vicinity.

This time of the season we get those days, when it is too cold for one kind of fishing and too warm for the other kind. Usually those days end with a good frost, after that we can call it fall fishing.

From the 23rd to the 3th the fishing will remain spotty. No real high point are to be predicted. If you are planning a fishing trip, it looks much better after the 31st. Your chances of a good day will be only one out of ten until then. This is not only the case in one locality as I travel 800 miles a week and find conditions very much the same all over. The only places I found fish being caught this last week were places they planted recently.

Any question that you may have concerning fishing will be answered if you address them to, "Guide to Fishing, Box 41, Roscommon, Michigan."

Our Mistake In Korea

The tragedy in Korea has demonstrated a fact that many of us, including highly-placed military men, had tended to forget—that there can be two kinds of war.

Up to the time that North Korea sent her troops pouring across the 38th parallel, we had been thinking in terms of the "big" intercontinental war. This, if it came, was to be war on an unprecedented scale and of an unprecedented type. It was to be a war of amazing machines which would wreak death and destruction on a huge scale and at vast distances. A button would be pushed, and an atom bomb or a guided missile would be on its way toward a target. It would be a war of science and technology. Some thought it might be a war in which a decision would be reached without any ground action at all, and without troop opposition.

No one can say that these concepts are wrong—they might hold true in that "big" war the world now fears. But it is clear that they do not apply in Korea.

In Korea we have a war in which the traditional, relatively simple weapons are all-important. The man with a gun in his hand must do the fighting. It is the most difficult and dismal sort of war imaginable. Great troop movements of the sort that took place in Europe in the last war are impossible. Everything is based upon the small unit—the battalion, the company, the platoon, even the squad. The importance of the individual soldier is supreme—if one man fails, disaster to many may follow. In this, the war is comparable to the jungle operations against the Japanese during the island-hopping period that preceded the surrender.

Worst of all, it is clear, we had not planned for this war. Our eyes were elsewhere — on Formosa, Iran, Europe—even as our minds were considering the other kind of war. And so, in every way, we were surprised.

The lesson we have learned is a grim one. We must be prepared for any kind of war—and for war almost anywhere. We have never faced a harder task.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Tune in HENRY & TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

It's a very satisfying feeling

YES, it's good to slip into a truly fine automobile and sense its richness, its comfort, its room.

And there's a great thrill in touching off the waiting power of a great-hearted straight-eight and feeling its swift response at any speed.

It's fun to count the quick, admiring glances thrown your way.

It's nice to have a car that parks easily, for all its inches. It's very pleasant to do away with gear-shifting and clutch-pedal pushing, and know in its stead the utter smoothness of Dynaflo Drive's silken transmission of power.

And still that doesn't probe the depths of a ROADMASTER owner's secret satisfaction.

For while he knows he has a fine car, by its look, its feel, its appointments—

While he has performance at his command that needs play second fiddle to no other on the road—

While he enjoys a very special measure of creature comfort in the quite matchless gentleness of ROADMASTER's ever-level ride—

He knows too that he has made an exceptionally wise investment. He has spent his money for the things that make a fine car fine—and nothing simply for show.

He has paid the lowest price per pound in the fine-car field—he has the very satisfying feeling of knowing his dollars have given him solid merit, and solid merit alone.

We'd like to have you try ROADMASTER in honest comparison with the highest-priced cars to be found. We'd like to have you try to match it for room, for comfort, for finish, for handling ease and for ability on the road.

Then check the prices—and see if your own sense of value doesn't advise signing up right now with your Buick dealer for a Buick ROADMASTER.

Hit Oil Well West Of Here

The 13th Michigan oil strike this year has been made 10 miles west of here in section 11 of Excelsior Township, Kalkaska County, reports the conservation department's geological survey division.

Known as the Boy Scouts of American-Marshall No. 1, the natural flowing well was brought in at 2,009 feet in the Traverse formation by Grand Rapids independent operators Neil Wagenaar and Edward Wagner.

North Branch

(Too Late For Last Week)

Birthday greetings go to Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, who on August 11, celebrated her 71st birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle St. John and family, Mrs. Alfred Proulx and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kellogg, Glenda and Bill called on their mother to wish her a happy birthday Friday evening, also to enjoy home made ice cream and a birthday cake prepared by Mrs. St. John. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kellogg, Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kellogg, Larry and Dale, all of Bridgeport, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kellogg and sons of Frederic, called on their mother to extend their birthday greetings.

Birthday greetings also go to Jerald Wade who on August 10 passed his twelfth mile stone. Happy birthday Jerald.

Marilyn Wade accompanied Glenda and Bill and Mrs. Clayton Kellogg on a shopping trip to West Branch on Saturday.

On Friday afternoon the North Branch Bible Church was well represented at the AuSable Bible Conference which was held at Goodwin. This church conference is made up of several churches in surrounding areas, covering a radius of approximately 150 miles. There is an afternoon of prayer service and Bible messages, this time by Roy Papenfus and Rev. Elias Den Ahrend, singing led by Rev. Barkowska of Gladwin, after which follows a potluck supper. Recess from 8:30 until evening services at 8 P. M. The church was filled to capacity and eight members of the North Branch Bible Church enjoyed both afternoon and evening services.

On Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kellogg took Glenda Kellogg, Marilyn Wade, Barbara Johnson and Virginia O'Connor to Grayling where they boarded the Calvary Church bus for their trip to spend a week at Bible Camp. There are nearly 100 young people enrolled this year and it promises to be one of the best years yet. I wonder if the dishwashers have dish pan hands!

Prayer meeting each Wednesday at 8 P. M. Don't forget, prayer changes things.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O'Connor, Virginia, Marian and Mrs. Jean Jackson attended a weiner roast at Mr. and Mrs. Matts on Sunday evening.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry these past two weeks have been their son, Mr. and Mrs. Burdett Henry and Dickie of Bay City, and Mr. Henry's brother and wife of Big Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Lewis and Janet made a motor trip to Croswell to visit Mrs. Johnson's parents, also to get Barbara Johnson who has been spending some time with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dury Bailey, their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bailey, Carrie and Bill, Jr., were Tuesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kellogg and family. The Baileys are from Pontiac and were staying at their place at Red Oak.

Omar Khayyam, author of the Rubaiyat, was also a great mathematician.

Try Rye Planting For Deer Food

Experimental rye plantings designed to provide supplemental food for deer have been started in seven northern lower peninsula counties.

As the result of recent conservation commission action, test patches of about 100 acres each will be completed before the end of the month in such overbrowsed counties as Alpena, Iosco, Montmorency, Oscoda, Crawford, Roscommon and Kalkaska.

In ordering the rye plantings, conservation commissioners emphasized that the program was an experimental one—but one which they believe should be tried in an attempt to solve the spring starvation problem.

Red Cross In Korea Officers Service To UN

Washington—The welfare services of American Red Cross field workers in Korea were offered today to the troops of other nations responding to the United Nations call for assistance in the Korean conflict.

In a letter addressed to the Red Cross societies of the nine countries involved, the American organization outlines a four-point program it could offer other UN troops until their own Red Cross workers join them in Korea. The program includes counseling on personal and family problems, transmitting or requesting information through Red Cross channels, distributing comfort articles, and providing such recreation facilities as may be requested by the military.

The offer went to the Red Cross societies of Great Britain, Australia, The Netherlands, The Philippines, Thailand, New Zealand, Bolivia and Canada and to The Red Crescent of Turkey. All of these countries have announced their willingness to send forces to Korea.

Currently there are 21 American Red Cross field workers in Korea, including three women, providing traditional Red Cross services to American troops. Eleven more workers are en route. The aid offered other UN forces parallels that being given to U. S. servicemen. Since the conflict started Red Cross headquarters at Tokyo has requested $80,000 worth of supplies for use in Korea.

Nation Will Need 400,000 New Classrooms by 1960

Modern Schools of Class Block Popular,
Provide Economical Answer to Shortage

Overcrowding will hamper the nation's schools for the next decade.

Government and school authorities, citing last year's 3,501,000 births—a record exceeded only in 1947, predict the school shortage will continue to be felt in all parts of the country.

"Actually there is not a community anywhere that is not in need of one or more schools if it is to be able to house the educational program that is emerging," reports School Executive magazine. "It is a very sobering challenge to the American public and their educational leaders."

Last year's elementary and high school enrollment of approximately 28,000,000 young Americans is expected to go to nearly 30,000,000 by the end of 1955—an increase of 7,000,000 in six years. In 1950 the figure will pass 37,000,000, predicts the U. S. Office of Education.

Architectural Forum magazine says 400,000 new classrooms will be needed to handle this expected increase in enrollment and to replace obsolete buildings.

The National Education Association predicts it will take ten years and cost $12,500,000,000 to build these classrooms. This is more than four times as much as has been spent in any previous decade for educational plants.

A National Education Association survey reveals city schools were filled 31 per cent beyond their capacity last year. The situation is as bad or worse in most rural areas, the nationwide survey shows.

Many communities are meeting the challenge with new schools that are scientifically planned to meet tomorrow's as well as today's requirements. Because these "new look" schools are economical to build and maintain, they are appearing with growing frequency in rural as well as urban areas.

Frederic School Plans Opening Of Year

The Frederic Rural Agricultural School will open its school year on Monday, September 4 with a meeting of the faculty and with students enrolling on Tuesday, September 5 at 2 P. M. at the School building.

The faculty list has been completed for the coming year during which the Frederic School has been approved as a twelve grade school by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This year again, John MacAuley of Frankfort will serve as school superintendent. Mr. MacAuley received his B. A. at Alma College and his M. A. at the University of Michigan. Robert C. Schrandt of Marquette will coach the athletic teams and teach science, shop and agriculture. He received his B. S. from Northern State Teachers College at Marquette. His wife, Mrs. Robert Schrandt, also of Northern State Teachers College at Marquette will teach math and English. Mrs. Margaret B. Boerner of Benzonia will handle the hot lunch program and teach domestic science and English. She attended Smith-Hughes and Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti and holds a B. S.

The grade teachers will be Miss

Local Man Awarded Wayne Certificate

Keith E. Sorenson, 508 Ogema, was awarded a certificate in mortuary science from the Wayne University School of General Studies at recent commencement ceremonies held in Detroit.

Mr. Sorenson who was born in Grayling, is also a graduate of Grayling High School. During World War II, he served with the United States Army in the China-Burma-India Theater and in North Africa.

Kathleen Anderson of Flint and Frederic who will teach the 6th and 7th grade. Miss Anderson holds a B. A. from Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant. Mrs. Gene Cornwell of Grayling will handle the 4th and 5th grades. She attended Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant. Mrs. Sarah Smith who holds a life certificate and also attended Central Michigan College will teach the 2nd and 3rd grades. Mrs. Ethel Puffer of Grayling who also attended Central Michigan College will teach the kindergarten and first grade.

An extra class room has been added at the school by remodeling the shoproom in the main building to serve the 6th and 7th grade. A remodeling plan is taking place in the garage which will be converted into a agriculture, science and shop room and operated as a farm shop. New seats have been ordered to take care of the changes. A direct door has been constructed out of the old shoproom, now the 6th and 7th grade room in order to meet fire regulations. Students may now march directly out of the room.

School Superintendent MacAuley arrived in Frederic last week to attend a school board meeting and announced that he planned to stay from now throughout the remainder of the school year. School Board Secretary E. A. Corsaut who has been quite ill is now able to be about a bit. His many friends around the county and Frederic were happy to hear that he was again able to be out.

And it all happened in Chicago as Roy Monsen, owner of "Matilda," reputedly the oldest gas-propelled car still operating in the country, meets Policeman Samuel Scarpella while en route to Chicago Fair of 1950. Built in 1894 at cost of $15,000, automobile has top speed of 10 m.p.h. It will be a feature of "Frontiers of Freedom" historical pageant at the fair. With Monsen is Mrs. D. W. Hankins, daughter of one of the car's builders.

More than one million dollars of mobile equipment, including either originals or exact replicas of some of the greatest mechanical discoveries that have contributed directly to the building of the American economy, will be used as stage properties for the mammoth "Frontiers of Freedom" historical pageant which will dramatize 270 years of American history and progress in 14 scenes running 63 minutes at the Chicago Fair of 1950 this summer.

Included among the stage properties will be such novelties as an authentic oil derrick gushing simulated oil, a replica of "The Kitty Hawk," the Wright Brothers' plane, a century-old Baltimore clipper ship, a two-deck Erie canal boat, a copy of the first McCormick reaper, the 1829 Tom Thumb and 1831 John Bull railroad trains, modern diesel locomotives, a jet plane, the most modern cotton picking machines, a self-propelled harvester thresher and many others.

"Frontiers of Freedom" will be shown four times daily in a lake front theater seating 6,000, and having the largest outdoor stage in the world. Dedicated to dramatizing American achievements in science, agriculture, commerce and industry, the Chicago Fair of 1950 opens June 24 and runs through Labor Day.

SHORT STORY

Valuable Man

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE DOOR MARKED "Private" opened and a girl appeared. "Come in please, Mr. Jeffrey," she said.

Tully dropped the magazine he had been reading onto the reception room table, rose, buttoned the coat of his double-breasted suit, straightened his tie and stepped past the girl.

"Mr. Gunner," said the girl, "has an appointment this morning. He asked our Mr. Jacobs to talk to you."

A rage seized Tully, and a determination. He thought: "To hell with Gunner and his job! I'm going back to Boston. But first I'm going in there and tell that yes-man what I figure I'm worth. Maybe what I figure I'm worth."

The yes-man was a typical, efficient yes-man, small, bespectacled and used to handling unpleasant duties for Mr. Gunner.

"Sit down, sit down, Jeffrey," he said. "We understand you have a letter. You're seeking employment. Mr. Gunner is very sorry to have to advise that at the moment there's nothing. Not a thing."

"Good," said Tully. "I decided not to take the job anyway. I decided you can't pay what I'm worth."

"Really?" said Mr. Jacobs, arching his brow. "And that is?"

"Two hundred and seventy-five dollars a week!" said Tully. He rose. "Good day, Mr. Jacobs. Give my uncle's regards to Mr. Gunner."

Mr. Jacobs sat at his desk with pursed lips and stared thoughtfully at the door that Tully had not slammed but closed with a determined firmness. Presently he rose and invaded the privacy of portly Mr. Gunner.

Briefly Mr. Jacobs outlined what was in his mind. "Asking $275, eh? Said he didn't want our job? Probably offered a better job by Erwin and Company. Called here to pay the respects of his uncle. Humm... Treated him rather shoddy, didn't we, Jacobs? Must be a good man. We need good men. Get hold of him Jacobs."

Mr. Jacobs tried Tully's hotel. There was a wait, then the clerk told him Mr. Jeffrey didn't wish to talk to any representative of Gunner, Inc.

MR. JACOBS went back to the office. Three times that afternoon he called Tully's hotel, but without success. He reported to Mr. Gunner. Mr. Gunner grew thoughtful.

"Jacobs, this youngster," probably the very man we've been looking for. Young, fresh new ideas. If he's worth $275 to Irwin or any one else, he's worth $300 to us. I'll handle it myself."

"Good," said Tully. "I decided not to take the job anyway."

When Mr. Gunner decided to handle anything he went to town. This tenaciousness was responsible for the success of his present firm. Never give up when you think you have something good, was his motto. Thus it was that Tully, returning home late from the theater, found a middle-aged, portly, important looking man parked before his door.

"I'm August Gunner," the portly man said. "My man Jacobs--"

"Told you I said you couldn't pay what I'm worth," Tully finished. "He was right. You can't. Good night, Mr. Gunner."

Uninvited, Mr. Gunner followed Tully inside the room. "I think," he said, "that your uncle rather expected you to go to work for us when you came to New York."

"Correct," said Tully. "So what?" "Your uncle is one of my dearest friends. We'll pay you $300 a week," Tully stared. A queer curved his lips. Mr. Gunner, he thought, was kidding.

Suddenly Tully realized that Mr. Gunner wasn't kidding. He swallowed, but managed to keep his voice under control. "All right," he said. "I'll take it. For the sake of my uncle."

Outside in the corridor, Mr. Gunner mopped his forehead. What a break! The kid was probably worth twice that much. And this uncle of his. He'd have to remind Jacobs to find out the old boy's name, first thing in the morning.

New war orders are arriving daily in Michigan. That coupled with acceleration of the postwar boom since the Korean invasion has reduced the state's jobless total to less than 100,000 persons, it is announced by Henry C. Mar-
... executive director, Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission. "We're almost at the bottom of Michigan's labor pool." Labor shortages are around the corner.

"Without reducing postal services by one iota" the postoffice department's estimated $555 million annual deficit could be reduced by more than one-half through Congressional approval of recommendations of the Hoover Commission. This conclusion is advanced by the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report headed by Dr. Robert L. Johnson, president of Temple University.
"Hand-cranking" machinery would be replaced by modern mechanized equipment; free franked mail, air-mail subsidies would be removed from the department's budget; the "true" deficit would be cut to $150 millions.

Communist sabotage is regarded by the AFL Maritime Trades Department as a menace to the Soo canal locks. A time-bomb could easily be dropped into the locks, so union officials warn. Recommendation: That the government screen crews of all vessels, American or Canadian, which use the American locks at Sault Ste. Marie.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake questions the economy saving possible by consolidation of state boards, bureaus, agencies and commissions. Less than one per cent of current expenditures could be reduced by this method, concludes Brake. Furthermore, power would be centralized in the governor to a "dangerous degree." "State government is costing more because we are spending more and not because our organization is obsolete."

Should Michigan voters approve a $65 million dollar issue to finance more state hospitals for tuberculosis and mental patients? A state citizens' committee has been formed to seek a verdict of "Yes" next November. Chairman is Dr. Charles L. Anspach, Mt. Pleasant, president of Central Michigan College.

The cost of living rise since the Korean invasion has crowded off the front page such mid-June political topics as the new increase in telephone rates. Labor unions are now demanding more pay, while deploring utility rate "gouging." Facts to consider: Michigan Bell Telephone Company has granted $35 million in wage increases since 1940; in the same period rate increases amounted to $21 million.

Year-end deficit in the state treasury (due primarily to diversion of 78 per cent of sales tax revenues to local governments) was approximately $20 millions, according to Robert Steadman, state controller. Steadman's solution: The Williams corporation, profits tax.

County prosecuting attorneys of Michigan have formally urged restoration of the one-man grand jury system. The plan was repealed by the state legislature in 1949 after 32 years' experience. A legislative committee is now studying the three-man-law with a view of recommending changes in the next session.

A committee of the Michigan State Bar recommends appointment of supreme court and circuit court judges by the governor. The governor would be restricted in his selection to a list of candidates nominated by a special judicial council of judges, lawyers and lay members. Sakari would be boosted; term of office lengthened; pensions provided for aged judges.

The University of Michigan, in co-operating with the Detroit News WWJ-TV, will undertake a broadcasting service of visual education this fall. The university maintains an extension division at the Rackham Center on North Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

Strongthoning of public school administration through a grant of more than $3,000,000 is announced by the Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek. The project is nation-wide and will be administered through leading universities and colleges. The foundation is financing the W. K. Kellogg Center for Continuing Education—a million dollar hotel—at Michigan State College.

Portinent to government bonds and war inflation: If American boys are sacrificing their lives in Korea, the least we can do at home is to sacrifice our dollars. Needless inflation, however, is the cause of needless sacrifice. The 1940 dollar is today worth less than 80 cents. If wages and prices go up further, your dollar will be worth less and less.

Edward Ray Named School Superintendent

Appointment of Edward M. Ray as superintendent of the conservation department's training school at Higgins Lake is announced by P. J. Hoffmaster, conservation director.
Ray, 46, succeeds Russel J. Martin who resigned several weeks ago because of ill health. The new superintendent joined the department 14 months ago and since has been conservation consultant to schools in southern Michigan. He taught in Kentucky schools before World War II during which he served three years in the air forces as an instructor.

After his discharge he worked for his doctor's degree in ecology and game management at Stanford University and the University of Michigan. He is married and has two daughters.

State Prison Labor
Attracts Attention

Michigan's use of prison inmates in improvement work in state parks is attracting nationwide attention.

A leading weekly publication—
Collier's—commends Michigan's program "to the serious consideration of the citizens and governments of our other 47 states."

An article by Harold Titus of Traverse City, veteran member of the conservation commission who retired last year, describes Michigan's program of park betterment, and Collier's comments that:

"On the 'practical' side, Michigan gets about three times as much value out of the inmates) work as it invests in this successful program; it has done jobs which the state's budget otherwise would not have allowed.
And in doing them, it offers a solution for conservation departments which, as Mr. Titus says, have been starved for help, since the days of the Civilian Conservation Corps."

About 250 men in six camps now are working on conservation projects in the state.
